“Jack & Barbara Nicklaus to be Honored During the African American Golfers Hall of Fame Celebration”

Jack & Barbara Nicklaus will receive the “2007 AAGHOF Humanitarian Award” during the “3rd Annual AAGHOF Black Tie Awards Dinner”, May 28, 2007 because of their “dedication to providing health care and hospital facilities for children and continuing to grow the game of golf for our youth.” They established the Nicklaus Children’s Health Care Foundation and are “totally committed” to its success.

Legendary Golfer Gary Player is the keynote speaker for the “black tie dinner on May 28, 2007 at the Palm Beach Gardens Marriott, Palm Beach Gardens, FL. At a time when most countries were shunning South Africa, Player brought African American athletes like Lee Elder, first African American to play in the Masters Tournament, to his country to try to make people understand that there should be equality on and off the playing field.

Inner City Youth Golfers’, Inc. (ICYG), a tax-exempt charitable organization (Tax ID # 65-0978868) established the AAGHOF annual event in order to give the “African-American Legends of Golf an opportunity to be recognized for their contributions to the sport, to continue being role models to our youth, to network with their peers, to interact and share their own stories about golf “then and now.” This celebratory event has institutionalized the true recognition of our historic involvement in “the growth of the game of golf” since the 1800’s. The African-American golfing community is at no loss for stories documenting its struggles, tragedies and ultimate triumphs. Little has been done however to recognize the accomplishments of those who really paved the way for today’s minority golfers.

The specific purpose of the AAGHOF is to honor the legacy and achievements of African Americans in the game of golf. The specific goals are to establish a place where the rich, colorful and proud history of African Americans in golf is specifically showcased and displayed for the world to see; to work diligently to find, review, and honor those African Americans who have made a lasting and positive contribution to golf and to their communities; to provide an interactive educational learning experience for all young and senior golfers; to acquire and assemble the most comprehensive collection of African American golf memorabilia in the world and to purchase land and build a permanent museum for all to enjoy for generations to come.
